I am responsible of Erasmus plus projects in my school, And we really think this is the best way to foster our students' skills especially in our world that is more and more globalized and multicultural!!! we have just applied for accreditation

There are two options to participate in a mobility project:

Your organisation applies for an accreditation:

If you plan to send abroad your learners and/or staff on a regular basis over the next years, you should apply once for accreditation for Key Action 1 and can then submit ongoing annual requests for funding. The accreditation is unlimited in time and provides continuous access to funding for learning mobility. The accreditation is seen like an Erasmus membership.

You plan a short-term mobility project:

The main idea of this kind of projects is to allow organisations to organise a few activities in an easy way and to gain experience with Erasmus+. So if you are new to the programme or just plan a smaller project, then Short-term projects might be the right solution for you. You can apply once per year for an implementation period from 6 – 18 months. In a period of five years, you can receive funding three times. The number of participants can be max. 30.

Before starting:

- ✓ Have a look at the internationalisation strategy of your organisation (or think about one if not existing yet) and make sure that your management supports your plans. Carrying out mobilities means some effort and commitment – discuss if it is worth going for an accreditation or if you start with a short-term project.
- ✓ Have a look at the programme guide and the website of your National Agency. Make sure that the organisation you represent or work for is eligible to apply for funding.
- ✓ Check the next deadline and the technical requirements for the electronic application and submission.
- ✓ Find out your organisation ID (OID) or if you are new in this programme, register your organisation.

How to register:

To register your organisation, you first need to open an account with EU Login. Go to the EU login page by entering the following address in the browser:

Work plan and learning agreement

In preparation for the placement a work plan needs to be defined, including working hours and different possible activities. The conditions for the mobility are then defined in a Learning Agreement, agreed between the sending and host organizations and the beneficiary. Thanks to ECVET, the European Credit System for Vocational Education and Training, it is easier for people to get validation and recognition of work-related skills and knowledge acquired in different systems and countries – so that they can count towards vocational qualifications. Let's have a closer look at ECVET:

Put the activities into the correct order:

- About 20 hours of study material
- Available in 6 languages
- 400+ participants
